OUTER BANKS

SINAI

7 DAYS / 6 NIGHTS

DAHAB - SHARM EL SHEIKH - NUWEIBA

ONE BACKPACK. THREE PLACES. ONE STORY.

A STORY TO LIVE, NOT A PROGRAM TO FOLLOW.

Three nights in Dahab, two in Sharm El Sheikh and one in Nuweiba. A clear route, a real crew and enough freedom for the best parts to happen between the plans - on the road, by the sea and around the people.

THE STORY

NOT THE SHOW. THE FEELING.

THE POGUE SPIRIT, OUR WAY.

Outer Banks is the reference because of the feeling behind it: loyalty, road energy, water, freedom, chaos, friendship and the kind of memories that only make sense to the people who were there. We are not trying to copy characters or recreate scenes. We are taking that feeling into South Sinai and turning it into our own story.

Planet Infinity gives the week a direction, not a script. We know the route. We know the places. We know the anchor experiences. What we do not want is a trip where every hour is already decided before we leave Cairo. The point is to let the crew actually live the places, not just tick them off.

By the end of the week, the goal is simple: the same backpack, the same road, but a different group from the one that started. Inside jokes, repeated clothes, wet hair, sunset stops, projector nights, late conversations, campfire stories, random detours and memories that feel more like a season of your life than a travel program.

WE CREATE STORIES.

WE CREATE MOMENTS. NOT TRIPS.

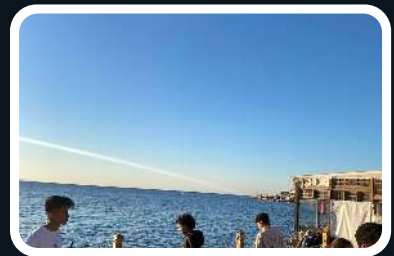

THE FLOW

THE ROUTE IS FIXED. THE STORY CAN MOVE.

01 DAHAB

3 NIGHTS / THE OPENING CHAPTER

Dahab is where the crew finds its rhythm. Everyone has a bike for the stay, so movement becomes part of the story - coffee runs, sea rides, disappearing for a while and meeting again. The flow can include Big Dawgs, a sea or boat day, local hangouts, sunset, beach time and one night that can stretch into a lagoon-style fire or BBQ depending on operations. The Outer Banks ritual also lives here: projector by the sea and the final season watched together. Three nights, enough time to actually live Dahab instead of rushing through it.

02 SHARM EL SHEIKH

2 NIGHTS / THE ENERGY SHIFTS

Sharm is the louder middle chapter. Water, beach, sunset, friends and the city after dark. Farsha can be one of the anchor moments, with room for a social night, party energy and time by the water without turning the stop into a timetable. The vibe changes from Dahab, but the crew stays together and the story keeps moving.

03 NUWEIBA

1 NIGHT / THE RESET

The final night slows everything down: sea, mountains, camp, stars and one last fire. If conditions and safety allow, Wadi El Weshwash can be part of the day. Nuweiba is the reset before Cairo - fewer plans, more space, and one last night with a group that now feels completely different from the one that left.

POGUES FOR LIFE

DO YOU WANNA BE A POGUE FOR LIFE?

Same backpack. Same road. Different people by the time we come back.
